

The above composition and the following three examples were inspired by our viewing of the film Office Space. It depicts a wooden figure “drowning” in the sort of office posts that were of the sort the office workers in the film might receive.